

An opportunistic fixed income strategy, designed to provide low correlation to core fixed income, offering current yield, low interest rate sensitivity and limited downside volatility.

FUND OVERVIEW

- The Semper Total Return Fund seeks to provide a high level of risk-adjusted current income and capital appreciation
- The Fund will be invested in fixed income securities similar to Semper Capital Management's existing $2.0 billion U.S.-domiciled MBS Total Return Strategy
- Investments will be concentrated in U.S. mortgage-backed securities (MBS) including non-agency and agency MBS and related structured credit sectors including commercial mortgage-backed securities (CMBS) and asset-backed securities (ABS)

FUND REVIEW

Fund performance excluding hedging costs was essentially flat in December as portfolio yield offset price weakness in the midst of the continued global risk-off environment. Prices of portfolio securities declined by an average of ¾% during the fourth quarter, in contrast to high yield credit's 6% decline and the S&P 500's 15% decline. We opportunistically purchased securities during this period with yield spreads about 25 bps wider than recent levels, with an emphasis on CRT and SFR securities. Portfolio yield remained steady at 4.5% as wider spreads offset lower market yields. Model duration declined, the result of lower Treasury yields. Fundamental credit quality continued to strengthen – several CRT positions were upgraded.

MARKET HIGHLIGHTS

Volatility in risk assets continued - and accelerated - leading to widening of most mortgage credit spreads. Price declines were muted relative to other asset classes, supported by fundamental and technical strength. The Fed increased their target Fed Funds rate as expected, but the market has now priced in no 2019 increases and in fact is expecting a 2020 easing. The first week of 2019 has seen some moderation in volatility, and mortgage credit prices are firming. New issuance, largely absent in December, resumes this month and will likely lead to attractive trading opportunities.

OUTLOOK

US housing forecasts remain positive, and largely immune from global macro events. Consensus estimates are for about 3% HPA growth nationally in 2019, and we generally expect residential credit fundamentals to show further improvement. We will seek to continue adding attractive cash flows opportunistically, with a focus on both the growing new issues sectors and the still robust legacy sector. We expect volatility in rates and risk assets to continue in the near term and expect the impact on mortgage credit to be modest, while potentially creating attractive buying opportunities.

GROWTH OF $10,000 SINCE INCEPTION *

*As of December 31, 2018. The Company's registered office is 52 Vanderbilt Ave., Suite 401, New York, NY 10017.

The price of shares and income from them can go down as well as up (this may partly be the result of exchange rate fluctuations in investments which have an exposure to foreign currencies) and past performance is not a guide to future performance. Investors may not get back the full amount originally invested. A comprehensive list of the risk factors are detailed in the Prospectus and an investment should not be contemplated until the risks are fully considered. The Prospectus can be viewed at www.gemini-im.com. The Fund will, on request, provide supplementary information to Shareholders relating to the risk management methods employed, including the quantitative limits that are applied and any recent developments in the risk and yield characteristics of the main categories of investments. An investment in the Fund should not constitute a substantial proportion of an investment portfolio and may not be appropriate for all investors.
